THURSDAY, JUNE 2, 1892.

—Whatever difference of opinion may at present exist as to the nominee of the Republican party for President may be, that difference will be settled as soon as the delegates to the Minneapolis convention express their choice. That convention will determine the choice of the party. It will most likely be for Harrison. It may be for Blaine, or Alger, or Sherman, or some other prominent Republican. The Republican party is rich in having so many men who could ably fill the position, and Republicans everywhere can heartily unite on any one whom the convention may nominate. Until the convention determines who the man shall be to lead the party to victory, every man has the right to shout himself hoarse for his particular favorite. When the nomination is made harmony takes the place of factional strife. If you are suited, if your first choice happens to be the choice of the convention, well and good; if not, white not, but work for the success of the ticket with the same zeal that you would have done, had your own particular choice of a candidate received the nomination.

—The doctrine of free trade as advocated by the Democratic party is the only active relic of slavery we have in America. Slave labor made it possible for the South to compete with labor anywhere; the South was the soul and body of the Democratic party, as it still is, and the Democratic party favored free trade, as it still does. Some of these days the South will be educated to a point at which it will lay this relic away and then the Democratic party will be in favor of a protective tariff and independent, manly, self-respecting labor. However, education has never been popular in the South, and it will take a long time for the new idea to establish itself.

—Memorial Day was observed throughout the North on Monday. The most interesting ceremonies were held at Rochester, N. Y., in which President Harrison, the Governor and other notables participated. There was a fine parade and great concourse of people witnessed it. A soldiers' monument costing $26,000 was unveiled. Addresses were made by President Harrison, Governor Flower, General Reynolds, and President Hill, of Rochester University. A monument was also unveiled at Richmond, Va., to the memory of Confederate General A. P. Hill, and an address was delivered by General J. A. Walker, commander of the "Stonewall Brigade."

—Ask a lawyer if he would like all those engaged in other occupations or professions to become lawyers and compete with him, and he will quickly answer no. Ask a merchant whether he would not be glad to see all those who are now manufacturers or importers change their business and become merchants, too, and he will speedily express his disapprobation of any such scheme. Yet the free traders want to make us a nation of agriculturists, and they ask a farmer to hail with joy a system that would transform all those who are his customers into competitors. —American Economist.

—In the appointment of Frank Willing Leach for Secretary of the State Committee the new Chairman has an experienced man, and we may confidently look for such a thorough State organization that will insure an increased Republican vote and consequently an increased majority at the election this fall.

We congratulate General Reeder for having the courage of his convictions in making this selection notwithstanding the objections urged against it by some of our exchanges because Leach is known to be a friend of one of the candidates for United States Senator.

—Democratic editors are already deploring the possibility of an oversupply of American tin-plate millionaires. Others complain that no tin-plate will ever be made in this country. The Democratic press keeps in stock every variety of campaign lie.

It is well that the congressional committee will investigate the monstrous sweating system in our large American cities. The method under which clothing manufacturers give out work to contractors, who in turn have it done by the piece by wretched women at starvation wages, was imported into this country from the most miserable quarters of European cities. A curse upon the merchant and the contractor goes with every garment thus made. The system is one of the foulest blot on the good name of our republic. No African slavery was ever crueler. The methods by which the villainous contractors get work out of the wretched women have given rise to the name "sweating." Unfortunately, some of the leading merchants of the country permit their work to be done in this way. What good they or the contractors expect from money thus obtained it would be interesting to know.

ADVICE TO THE ENGAGED.

TO THE MAN.

If you think that a woman is any weaker minded than a man, stop where you are. If you intend to treat yourself any better than you treat your wife, don't take one. If you expect that running the house consists in paying the bills, don't undertake it.

If you have an idea that you are too good for a picked up dinner, remain a bachelor.

If you have found it a hard task to be happy with yourself, don't try to make any one else happy.

If you are marrying her for her figure, it would be wise on your part to watch her diet very closely.

If you have chosen a pretty woman without regard to her other qualities, halt; you are on the wrong road.

If you incline to the opinion that any man is good enough for home manners, don't try to have a home.

If you think that a house should have only one door, that lead to the street, postpone your wedding indefinitely.

If you are of the opinion that marriage makes man and wife one and that you are to be both one, send in your resignation.

If you are one of those men who think 10 percent of their income belongs to the tax-payer, let heaven's name be marriage alone.

TO THE WOMAN.

If you are extremely fond of dancing you would do well to marry a dancing master.

If you don't feel that you are qualified to be a poor man's wife, don't marry a rich one.

If you are marrying for money only, you must only expect to get what money can buy.

If you are going to marry a man for his looks, you must be surprised when he gives you a look only.

If you are going into the thing blindly, don't hold up your hands in holy horror when you get your eyes opened.

If you are marrying a man to reform him, it behooves you to exercise all the zeal and patience of the reformer.

If you only contemplate taking a husband in order to gain greater freedom, don't be surprised if he should profit by your example.

If you have been engaged three times before this, you had better wait six months before the engagement may be followed by still another.

If you have an idea that a cook book and an allowance can make a happy home, you should get yourself to a nursery with all convenient speed.

If you expect that God will bless your home because you put that sentiment in yellow wax and seal it in an oak frame, you are doomed to disappointment.

If you have an idea that married life is any easier than it was in your mother's time, because you can live in a boarding house and put your washing out, don't try it.

If you are fond of dress and show and empty compliments, and think that the frivolities of life don't marry a man at all; merely marry something that will pass for a man. —Young Ladies' Bazaar.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES.

A philologist estimates that the coinage of new words goes on at the rate of 100 annually in the English language.

The Portland Telegram considers that the average of twelve dollars a week, have no reasonable excuse for dissatisfaction with their salaries.

Harvard college is to have a new athletic field of 15 acres within a few minutes' walk of the college. It is to occupy the low ground across the Charles river, opposite the Longfellow residence.

The authorities of the University of the City of New York have decided to abandon the system of free tuition and will hereafter charge an annual fee of $100. Generous provisions will be made for students needing aid.

President Harper, of Chicago, has made his new university famous the country over, and now Dr. Harper, also of Chicago, is preparing to erect a seven story combined medical college and hospital with the greatest clinic in the world.

Superintendent W. E. Hatch, of New Bedford, is one of the staunchest advocates for the abolition of the district school system in favor of the municipal system. In a recent paper before the Norwich (Conn.) board of trade he presented a number of ill-qualified and convincing arguments.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

To make the eyebrows grow better rub common salt into them every night before going to bed.

Buy fine serim with printed coin spots and make it into window curtains for your summer cottage.

For a disagreeable breath put a few drops of tincture of myrrh in a tumbler of water and thoroughly rinse the mouth with it.

For a disagreeable flannel clothes wring out of very hot water and applied to the throat and chest; cover with dry cloths, and renew with hot soon as the others commence to cool.

Unpleasant marks, caused by the dripping of water in, upon the face or water closets bowls, may be removed by rubbing with a cloth or old toothbrush dipped in pulverized chalk or ammonia.

To frost windows prettily, make a jelly of ground rice and boiling water. Put it on warm with a soft brush, then give it a good ground effect by dabbing it skillfully with the ends of a hard, flat ended brush.

POWDER AND BALL.

Since the Franco-Prussian war Germany has spent $2,000,000,000 on her army and navy.

So delicate is the adjustment of the most powerful cannon that allowance has to be made for the curvature of the earth before the discharge.

The neck tie is to be added to the regulation outfit of the American soldier. It is to be of black silk, and about 20,000 will be ordered at the start.

All the larger vessels of the Italian navy employ electric machines for manufacturing chlorine from the decomposition of sea water, the gas being used for disinfecting the hold, storerooms and other portions of the vessel.

Mr. Chas. N. Hauser

Of Frederick, Md., suffered terribly for over ten years with abscesses and running sores on his left leg. He wasted away, grew weak and thin, and was obliged to use a cane and crutch. Every walking stick could be thrust into his leg with good result, until he began taking which effected a perfect cure. Mr. Hauser is now in the best of health. Full particulars of his case will be sent you upon address.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best for constipation, biliousness, indigestion, cure headaches and dizziness.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, May 30, 1892.

Wanamaker's.

Some dozens of styles Scotch Ceylon are 50c—best we ever had at the price. Wonderfully pretty pinks and blues among them.

A Yankee lot that was 50c is now 37½c. Another, striped or checked with Silk, is 65c.

Silk filling, cotton warp—yet another of the Ceylon brood. Like a Cheviot, not like a Cheviot. Light enough to almost float, but strong, and one of the wear-till-you-weary sort. Glasgow warp.

Maybe a dozen pretty plaids and stripes. Originally 75c, now 60c—width 30 inches.

Any of these Ceylons are pat for out-of-doors from bud-burst to harvest-moon. Light, warm, handsome. Women's Dresses and Blouses, Children's Wear and Men's Shirts are everywhere in evidence.

Cream Flannel.

For the Outing and Tennis and romp-about days. Flannel that won't shrink. Cotton warp? No. But the Cotton is there, enough of it to do all the possible Cotton good without hurting the woolen worth of the stuff.

Two qualities, three styles, width 36 inches.

Plain Flannel, 50c grade, at 37½c. Narrow Diagonal Flannel, 65c grade, at 50c.

Wide Diagonal Flannel, 65c grade, at 50c.

Four other grades, heavier, Cream Flannels, heavy enough for anybody's wear. And handsomely under the usual prices. 50-inch, at $1; 54-inch, at $1.25; $1.50; $1.75.

Cream All-wool Flannel, too. Alderney cream for richness. Light weight and sprightly as if the joyous spirits of the French weavers had been caught in the stuff. 44-inch, 75c; 52-inch, $1.25.

Grenadines are favorites; sure to stay favorites. That makes a Grenadine price-tip your way a most unlikely happening just now. The tilt is here nevertheless—All-wool Black Ground Grenadines with colored silk stripes.

45-inch, $1.25, regularly $2.

Grenadine Novelties—prices are still further a-slant.

Dots of Wool and Mohair; tan, blue, pink or yellow, on Black Grenadine, $1 from $2—45 inches.

Black Camel's Hair Grenadine, with border of Bengalie edged with colored Silk, $1.25; regular $2 kind.

Polka Dot Berge, 44-inch, even ground with green, blue, pink and lavender dots, at 75c.

Silk-and-wool navy blue Mexican Mesh Grenadines, 24 in., 75c, regularly $1.25.

Silk-and-wool navy blue Striped Grenadine, 48 in., $1.50 from $2.

Only one maker can use the name Lansdowne for a Dress Stuff. Of course there are imitations, but they masquerade under other names.

For the simon-pure and only Lansdowne the one headquarters hereabout is under our roof. No one else in town has this dainty stuff except in hand-folds. They can't get it. Sometimes even we can't get it fast enough.

As perfect a Silk-and-wool as you need ever expect to see. 43 colors in stock today. Price $1.25, width 40 in.

New patterns in the 18c Challis. The wonder is that so much of beauty can be got onto any printed stuff. Color combines are as charmingly novel as the dainty designs.

If the manufacturer had hit the quantity right these Striped Suitings (Wool) would be 50c a yard. His mistake makes the price 37½c.

Boys' Suits.

Do you notice the scrambling of around-town Clothiers to get into the $3.50 procession? Pace too fast for them. Such Suits as the 4 to 14-year boy shall have here at $3.50 startle the trade as much as they delight customers.

Only the beginning. Suits at $5 to $12 and just as worthily worth it.

Sailor Suits, fast blue, $3.50 to $8.50; also gray and brown, plain and fancy trimmed.

Reefers, blue Flannel and Serge, $3.50; sizes 2½ to 6 years. Better at $4.50, $5, $6.

Five shades Boys' Short Trousers, All-wool, 4 to 15 years, $1.

Thirty patterns regular 10 and 15c Wall Paper reduced to 6c. Can be used in any room. Samples to any address.
